ROCKING COMEDY COMING UP

A rare treat is in store for people who like live theater and a funny show. The Art Center Players of Marion will romp with "Send Me No Flowers" at the Old Rochester Regional High School on Friday and Saturday nights. Curtain time is 8:30 P.M. The Mattapoisett Lions Club is sponsoring the play and the proceeds will be used for community projects in Mattapoisett.

The play had a successful Broadway run and the Art Center Players found it a marvelous display case for their casts' talents when it was presented in November at the Art Center. Aurora Anderson and Ted Babbitt, in the leading roles as husband and wife, are to put it simply - great. The plot revolves around hypochondriac George Kimball (Ted Babbitt) who prepares to meet death nobly. In the process he drives his next door neighbor, played by Joe Burke, to drink; presents his wife with a future that only a most self sacrificing husband could conceive; and nearly drives himself into the ground glorified by a grave plot salesman played enthusiastically by Larry Brooks.

The stage crew does a fine job on a special effect series of day dreams. The private thoughts and dreams of the characters can

The new auditorium of the High School can only add to the enjoyment of the audience. The contoured foam seats arranged in raised tiers with every seat in the house a comfortable one with a clear view of the stage.

This play is sustained comedy. Both the cast and the audience have a delightful evening with it. We recommend it without reservation to those who like to enjoy themselves.

LIONS CONSTRUCT CABANA

Members of the Mattapoisett Lions Club are shown at work on their newest project under the ever present eye of a sidewalk (or in this case seaside) superintendent. Working on Friday and Saturday, they laid the foundation and completed the frame and part of the roof of the Ned's Point cabana. They were handicapped by searing heat and a reluctant generator so did not proceed as rapidly as they thought they might. However, the structure, by Saturday evening, had taken shape and had part of the roof complete. The Lions are donating the labor and all of the materials to make a finished cabana as a gift to the town. The proceeds of the play which they will present on Friday and Saturday will help toward this and other community projects in Mattapoisett. The play, "Send Me No Flowers", will be presented at the Old Rochester Regional High School at 8:30 P.M.

Working on this cabana were the following members of the Lions Club: John Tarvis, chairman; Anthony Secia, Ray Pound, Vangie Vangel, Floyd Tinkham and John Paiva. Russell Chase came down to fix the generator and stayed to help with the construction.

OLD OIL HOUSE ROOF RESTORED

Ned's Point Light was once fueled by oil. At that time, there was a house for the keeper and barn for his animals. The area around the Light was meadow and farm. Now only the lighthouse and the ruins of the oil house remain. To preserve the oil house a roof and door are being restored to the structure. Mr. Raymond Winslow, as a member of the Veterans' Memorial Park committee, is sparking plans that will make a fine recreation area of this long neglected land. This is the beginning of the restoration. He also has plans for a stone wall and gate, and stone jetties in the ocean to bring the sand in for a beach. A local gentleman is donating the best stone on his land for the stone work that Mr. Winslow and the committee plan. Mrs. Alexander Barrie of Ned's Point Road is donating her services in decorating the park with flowers. The Lions Club is completing a cabana for a resting spot with seats, shade and the best view in town. Always a popular recreation area, Ned's Point will soon be a proud memorial to Mattapoisett veterans through the leadership of Mr. Winslow and the generous effort of many citizens. When complete the gate will bear a plaque given by the Florence Eastman Post which will bear the name of the park.

THE OTHER SIDE OF THE COIN

While many public spirited citizens are spending time and effort on building a park at Ned's Point it would seem incredible that anyone would be interested in tearing it down. Yet, this same week-end while the Lions labored in the heat to build a cabana, a trailer backed up to the riprap at the beach and loaded up with stone from the riprap wall. The stone was trucked away to be used in a dry well for a new, substantial home. Police were notified and made the vandals return the stone where it was dumped in the parking area next to the beach. As soon as the police left, the same trailer was back reloading. This trip, they were stopped by a member of the Memorial Park Committee. If anyone should notice this same operation again, please call us to photograph the action. We will write it up complete with pictures of the home where the stolen rock will be used.
